Mediacorp Inc. : American Employer Digest with CDROM before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised American Employer Digest with CDROM:

There's never been a directory like the American Employer Digest 2003. This new book and CD-ROM combination lets job-seekers apply online to all the top US employers in their field in a single afternoon. This quality directory profiles the 10,000 most-admired employers in the USA -- companies and organizations that are recognized as leaders in their fields. Each employer listing includes full contact information, plus a description of the employer's operations and industry. Also tells you the best way to apply for a job at each employer. An easy-to-use Industry Index lets job-seekers quickly locate great employers in hundreds of major industries. A detailed Geographic Index makes it easy to find leading employers in every state and thousands of cities across the USA. Best of all, 100% of the employers recruit online. Readers can use the included CD-ROM to search quickly through all the data in the book -- then send their resume online to the best employers in their field or region. (Please note: the data on this CD-ROM cannot be exported.) Don't waste another moment approaching employers that aren't leaders in their field! Use this quality directory to apply quickly to the best American employers in any industry or region.

From the Publisher This is a directory of the most-admired employers in America. Inside, you'll discover the companies and organizations that have won the respect of their peers and the press -- and are acknowledged as leaders in their fields. There are two qualifications for an employer to be profiled in this directory: 1. The employer must be a leader in its field. This directory profiles only admired employers. From semiconductor manufacturers to steelmakers, all of the companies and organizations you see in these pages have received favorable press, industry awards, analyst reports or other industry praise in the past year. In each industry, the employers selected for this directory are the market leaders -- and the ones we believe offer the most interesting career prospects. 2. The employer must recruit online. All of the employers in this directory accept job applications over the Internet, either by email or through their websites. Although most also accept applications by mail (and sometimes fax), we wanted this directory to provide a fast and convenient way for job-seekers to apply to as many employers in their field or region as possible. As a result, even excellent employers have been excluded from this directory if they do not recruit online. Our editors will review your application, compare your organization to others in the field and let you know whether we can include you in the next edition of the American Employer Digest.
