The civil rights establishment, contends Rev. Jesse Lee Peterson, has made a career off the downturn of America's inner city, promising solutions but offering only a Band-Aid. Peterson's is a platform of empowerment, teaching individuals and families how to tap into the power within, rather than depending on handouts. Chronicling the failure of the welfare system, denouncing the notion of reparations, citing problems within black churches, and even condemning current black "leaders," Peterson argues that the crisis we face is spiritual, and no economic solution will suffice. He skillfully weaves the realms of politics, culture, psychology, and religion into this profound and relevant book.

About the Author Rev. Jesse Lee Peterson, often referred to as "the other Jesse," is founder and president of the nonprofit Brotherhood Organization of a New Destiny (BOND), whose purpose is "rebuilding the family by rebuilding the man." He is the author of From Rage to Responsibility, host of a live nationally syndicated radio talk show on Information Radio Network, an individual and family counselor, and a much-sought-after speaker. Peterson is a frequent guest on television and radio programs such as The O'Reilly Factor, Hannity Colmes, and BET Tonight. He is an advisory board member for Project 21, a national black conservative public policy organization, and a board member of the California Christian Coalition.
