Lesley Laing, Cathy Humphreys, Kate Cavanagh : Social Work and Domestic Violence: Developing Critical and Reflective Practice before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Social Work and Domestic Violence: Developing Critical and Reflective Practice:

Domestic violence affects all areas of social work. This book shows how social workers can intervene in everyday practice with victims, their families and perpetrators of domestic abuse. It provides students with knowledge of theory, research and policy to put directly in practice across a variety of legal and service-user contexts. Topics covered include: Child protection

'A clear overview of social work practice with domestic violence. There is a good balance between theory and practice in the chapters, and all of the theory presented is incredibly important for good practice' - Aisha Hutchinson, University of Bedfordshire and University of Southampton 'An excellent contribution to the evidence base. Each chapter provides pertinent information and guidance to practitioners across a range of contemporary domestic violence issues' - Jan Breckenridge, University of New South Wales A clear overview of social work practice with domestic violence.
